

H.E.A.T

WELCOME TO THE FUTURE TOUR 2026

Swedish hard rock band live in Europe

Swedish hard rock institution H.E.A.T has been successfully bringing 80s hard rock into the present day since their formation in 2007. With their eighth studio album "Welcome to the Future" (April 2025) the band has once again raised their own bar even higher. Driven by Kenny Leckremo's powerful vocals and the band's signature blend of melodic hooks and modern energy, this album marks a new pinnacle in their already explosive discography. Following their tour in October 2025 with a sold-out show in Madrid, the quintet returns to Europe in 2026.

With "Welcome to the Future", H.E.A.T not only pay homage to their roots but also prove that hard rock still has something meaningful to say. And they're saying it louder, prouder, and more electrifyingly than ever before. The lead singles "Disaster," "Running to You" and "Bad Time for Love" have been enthusiastically embraced by fans and critics alike. Rock Hard called the album "simply fantastic", Metal Hammer praised it as "the band in top form," and Hardline declared: "They do what they do best – write hits – and make 'Welcome to the Future' their strongest album yet". "Welcome to the Future" has achieved impressive chart success, securing international top positions in the iTunes Rock & Metal Charts. Rock radio has also welcomed H.E.A.T's new era with open arms: "Disaster" and "Running to You" were added to Planet Rock's (UK) A-Lists, and stations across Europe are playing H.E.A.T. up and down the dial.

After a successful European tour, H.E.A.T shows no signs of fatigue. In March 2026, fans can look forward to a series of spectacular live shows.
